Week in Review: I have had a tough week this week, I missed a few things this week. I forgot to respond to my classmates on one of my assignments and had trouble keeping track of due dates, part of the reason I but is not an excuse is I my daughter started here college classed this week. I have to keep on her to get her work done, and sometimes she needs help with something. She is doing online as well, not to mention I work fulltime job and have 4 dogs. Other than that my weekend has been pretty calm as I had a day off to catch up with school. I am not going to allow my school work to suffer next week. I have a new plan, by getting up early in the morning and start school work. I have done a lot of research on Microsoft for my failure to success assignment, and I have also work some more on my programing and working with a new website I purchased to gain more experience. So is has been a tough week but I shall not let it win, I am not a quitter.

Reflect and Connect: This next week will be a better week compared to last week, I need to keep on top of my assignment dates. I have to say this is the toughest month I have had since I started school. I did a lot of research on Microsoft and Bill Gates for assignments. I did some refresher work on programing from my first programing class. I really enjoy programing it is so fun, and I am going to start a website project using Uber and Uber cart. The company that revamped our website I don't think did a great job and our customers agree, so I need to fix this. I also need to have a better week during week 3.
